ALL-COLLEGE ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTION & BYLAWS

Professional College Staff Adoption	09/29/16
All College Assembly Ratification	09/29/16
Board of Trustees Approval	10/24/16

Preamble

- A. An institution of higher education which values democracy together with effective and efficient operations, Allegany College of Maryland (ACM) hereby adopts this All-College Assembly Constitution and Bylaws.
- B. Guided by the College's mission and vision, ACM's All-College Assembly constitution has a shared governance framework designed to:
 - 1. advance the College toward its strategic priorities;
 - 2. afford participants the opportunity to provide input to policy proposals and institutional decisions;
 - 3. balance maximum participation in decision making with clear accountability;
 - 4. value voices from all constituencies;
 - 5. foster respect and trust across all constituencies, and
 - 6. enhance communication across the institution;
- C. All employees and credit students are encouraged to participate in governance.

Article I Purpose

The purpose of this All-College constitution is to provide the structure for shared governance at Allegany College of Maryland; the constitution includes bylaws which provide the process by which governance occurs. Shared governance is how internal stakeholders democratically participate in policy development and major institutional decisions and make recommendations to the College President and Board of Trustees

Article II Membership

- A. The All-College Assembly membership shall consist of any employee (paid person, full- or part-time) whose position has been classified by the College as Administrator, Associate Support Staff, Faculty, or Professional Support Staff who has an employment contract processed through the Human Resources Office.
- B. The chair shall be the College President or designee.
- C. In the absence of the chair, the vice chair shall assume the duties of the chair; the vice-chair shall be the Senior Vice President of Instruction and Student Affairs or designee.

Article III Meetings

- A. The All-College Assembly shall meet at least three times during the academic year; the meeting schedule shall be published before the first meeting of the year.
- B. The Chair or designee shall publish an agenda and any supporting documents for all regularly scheduled meetings no less than five business days before the meeting. The agenda may include, but is not limited to:
 - 1. action items requiring a vote,
 - 2. information items, and
 - 3. professional development.
- C. An action item requires a quorum which shall be a minimum of 100 members.
- D. The President may call emergency meetings with one business day notice to members.
 - 1. Any member may submit a written request for a meeting to the President.
 - 2. The President shall determine if a meeting should be called.
- E. The Chair, or designee, shall record attendance. All full-time employees are expected to attend meetings; any absence must be approved by the President; all part-time employees are encouraged to attend meetings. A copy of the attendance record shall be kept and made available.
- F. The rules contained in the current edition of Roberts Rules of Order shall govern the conduct of meetings.
- G. For items requiring a vote, the Assembly will follow Roberts Rules of Order. A majority of the votes cast is required to approve an item – excluding amendments as detailed in Article VII. Absentee ballots will be permitted under Roberts Rules of Order by procedures that will be communicated to the All College Assembly in advance.
- H. The Chair, or designee, shall take and publish the minutes.
- I. The All College Assembly may conduct business via electronic methods for urgent matters; a comprehensive record shall be maintained.

Article IV Governance Structure

- A. The All-College governance structure is composed of five elements:
 - 1. Discretionary policies and procedures which apply across the institution
 - a. may be proposed by any internal stakeholder
 - b. may be developed by governance groups or by designated College official(s)
 - c. shall be submitted for review and input via governance procedures
 - 2. Major institutional matters
 - a. may be identified for resolution by any internal stakeholder
 - b. shall be submitted for review and input via governance procedures unless the matter is urgent or time-sensitive, thereby requiring immediate administrative action.
 - 3. Governance groups
 - a. may provide review and input.

4. Governance procedures
 - a. shall be created for any internal stakeholder to develop, revise, or resolve discretionary policies and procedures and major institutional matters.
 5. Information and communication
 - a. shall accompany discretionary policies and procedures, major institutional matters, and operations to the greatest extent possible.
- B. Mandatory policies and procedures are exempt from governance procedures but shall be communicated to stakeholders prior to official action by the College.
- C. Operational policies and procedures that apply only to specific programs or departments are exempt from governance procedures unless review is specifically requested upon demonstration of good cause shown but shall be communicated to relevant stakeholders.
- D. Routine institutional operations are exempt from governance procedures unless review is specifically requested upon demonstration of good cause shown but shall be communicated to relevant stakeholders.

Article V Governance Procedures

- A. Governance begins when an internal stakeholder submits a discretionary policy/procedure or major institutional matter to the President's Advisory Team via
1. Committee or task force;
 2. Operational unit;
 3. Constituency association; or
 4. Member of President's Advisory Team.
- B. The President's Advisory Team shall

 - iv) demonstrating if the submission aligns with the College's Strategic Plan or other planning documents.
 - b. The employee or student shall request placement on the agenda no less than 7 business days prior to the All-College meeting.

- J. A year-end assessment of the college's shared governance process shall be conducted by the President.

Article VI

Bylaw Standards for Governance and Operational Committees

- A. Bylaws prescribe how a group functions and must include the following elements:

- 1. name,
- 2. purpose,
- 3. membership,
- 4. designation as a directive or advisory body,
- 5. definition of a quorum
- 6. procedures, including voting,
- 7. distribution of the agendas and minutes,
- 8. procedure for taking attendance, a copy of which shall be made available to the College community,
- 9. procedure for annually reviewing the bylaws,
- 10. procedure for amending the bylaws, and
- 11. procedure defining the submission of an annual report to the President's Advisory Team for publication to the College community.

- B. Bylaws, or recommendations for changes, must be submitted to the President’s Advisory Team for review and approval to advance to the All-College Assembly.

Article VII
Definitions

In this Constitution, the following terms will be defined as noted.

- A. Bylaws: The rules by which the designated governance groups will conduct business.
- B. Constitution: The institutional document which confers the authority of governance, establishes the principles which will guide the All-College Assembly, and includes the rules by which the All-College Assembly will conduct business.
- C. Discretionary Matter: Distinguished from mandatory matters and the heart of participatory governance. Any student or employee may develop, revise, or resolve an optional matter and submit to the appropriate participatory group or to the All-College Assembly after thorough vetting by the appropriate College personnel – including governance groups when possible. (Contrast with “Mandatory Matter”.)
- D. Employee: The Assembly membership shall consist of any employee (paid person, full- or part-time) whose position has been classified by the College as Administrator, Associate Support Staff, Faculty, or Professional Support Staff who has an employment contract processed through the Human Resources Office. Employees are College Officials.
- E. Governance Group: a body or individual in the governance structure that includes Board of Trustees, President, All-College Assembly, President’s Advisory Team, Constituency Associations, Committees and Task Forces, and Student Government.
- F. Human Resources Policies: Policies directly related to salary and benefits upon which the employees who are affected by them should not vote.
- G. Internal stakeholders: individual employees, individual students, All-College Assembly, President’s Advisory Team, Constituency Associations, Committees and Task Forces, and Student Government.
- H. Mandatory Matter: any policy or procedure that is required by law, regulatory agency, or accrediting body. Designated Human Resources policies as defined below are deemed mandatory matters for purposes of this constitution. Board of Trustees directives may be deemed mandatory for purposes of this constitution. The College Official(s) charged with creating mandatory policy or procedure shall be responsible for ensuring it complies with law and can be implemented given existing institutional policy, procedures, and operations. (Contrast with “Discretionary Matter”.)
- I. Major Institutional Matter: issue with college-wide impact or of great importance to meeting the College’s mission, vision, guiding principles or Strategic Plan. They are commonly (but not exclusively) new matters which are neither urgent nor time-sensitive requiring immediate administrative action.
- J. Operations: a matter defined as routine management of the institution, application of procedure, committee functions, specific tasks listed in an employee’s job description, classroom instruction, and/or individual student instruction or service.
- K. Policy: a written rule.

1. Institutional policy: affects all and must be approved by the Board of Trustees.
 2. Operational policy: guides administrative decision-making and may require Board of Trustees approval.
- L. Procedure: a method of implementing policy.
- M. Recommendation: distinguished from a binding vote, a recommendation is a verbal or written suggestion or advice offered by a governance group, College Official, or third party advisor.
- N. Shared Governance: how internal stakeholders democratically participate in policy development and major institutional decisions and make recommendations to the College President and Board of Trustees
- O. Student: enrolled credit student whether full time or part time.
- P. Vote: A vote occurs when the chair of a group formally calls for “Aye” or “Nay” by its members to decide whether a particular action shall be taken; votes are binding only upon that body. All-College Assembly may vote on matters submitted for formal action, but does not vote on items presented for informational purposes. The President’s Advisory Team does not vote; instead it determines the support or non-support for proposals and makes a recommendation to the President. Committees/Task Forces may vote in accordance with their bylaws or practices.

Article VIII Amendments

This constitution may be amended in the following manner:

- A. A member may submit a proposed amendment to the President’s Advisory Team for review.
- B. Pursuant to Roberts Rules of Order, a two-thirds vote of the PAT is required to advance an amendment to this constitution to the All-College Assembly.
- C. The PAT will define the voting method considering democratic integrity, effective communication, and institutional efficiency.
- D. Proposed amendments being advanced to the All-College Assembly will be distributed to all employees at least five business days prior to the scheduled All-College Assembly meeting where deliberation can occur.
- E. A ballot vote and related procedures are defined in the current Roberts Rules of Order.
- F. The minimum number of votes cast must equal or exceed a quorum. For the amendment to pass, two-thirds of the votes cast must be affirmative.
- G. Endorsed amendments will be forwarded to the President for recommendation to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

If less than a majority of the membership is present action taken by the Committee must be published to all members, and a five working day waiting period observed before the action becomes final. A special meeting can be called to reconsider the issue.
- E. The Chair, or a designee, will send a pre-published agenda and documents for each meeting to all members and internal stakeholders five working days before the scheduled meeting. Post-PAT summary will be provided to the PAT membership and internal stakeholders no more than five working days after the PAT meeting. (All-College Assembly Constitution, Article V, Section G.)
- F. The Chair will designate a member to take minutes, including those present and absent at each meeting, and make electronically available the minutes to all members of the committee and the college community. Minutes shall be archived.
- G. The Chair, or a designee, will submit an end-of-year report to the Committee and Task Force Subcommittee of PAT.
- H. The PAT operates on consensus. At the request of the President, a tally will be used to determine support/non-support. [The President's Advisory Team does not vote; instead it determines the support or non-support for proposals and makes a recommendation to the President.] (All-College Assembly Constitution, Article VII, Section P.)

Amendments

These bylaws can be amended by two-thirds majority vote of those present and voting, provided that written notice has been given to all members at least five working days before the meeting during which the amendment will be considered. The proposed amendment shall be consistent with the Policies and Procedures of the College and the law of the State of Maryland.

All-College Assembly Constitution

Preamble

- A. An institution of higher education which values democracy together with effective and efficient operations, Allegany College of Maryland (ACM) hereby adopts this All-College Assembly Constitution.
- B. Guided by the College's mission statement, ACM's All-College Assembly constitution has a participatory governance framework designed to:
 - 1. balance maximum participation in decision making with clear accountability;
 - 2. give voice to common constituency concerns;
 - 3. enhance communication across the institution;
 - 4. collaboratively draw upon ideas and expertise across the College community.
- C. All employees and credit students are encouraged to participate in the governance structure.
- D. ACM strives to:
 - 1. advance the College toward its strategic goals;
 - 2. recognize the importance of all participants in the decision-making process;
 - 3. afford participants opportunity to provide input to policy proposals;
 - 4. encourage collaboration and consensus to reach the best possible decision for the College;
 - 5. clearly delineate responsibility for final decisions;
 - 6. provide feedback to inform the responsible and accountable administrators in a manner that serves the College's mission,
 - 7. acknowledge the participant groups as advisory to the president and the Board of Trustees; and
 - 8. effectively communicate the College's major institutional and operational policies and matters as defined in Article II.

Article I Purpose

The purpose of this constitution is to provide a structure for participatory decision-making and communication.

Article II Definitions

In this Constitution, the following terms will be defined as noted.

- A. Policy: a written rule.
 - 1. Institutional policy: affects all and must be approved by the Board of Trustees.
 - 2. Operational policy: guides administrative decision-making and may require Board of Trustees approval.

- B. Procedure: a method of implementing policy.
- C. Major Institutional Matter: new development or request to change an existing process/procedure; such matter must directly involve more than one Institutional Unit or require cross-departmental expertise, has college-wide impact, is not operational in nature, and does not require immediate action by the College's leadership.

- D. Institutional Unit: one of the College divisions directly supervised by a Vice-President or the President.
- E. Vote: an employee's choice for or against policies and major institutional matters brought before the All-College Assembly.
- F. Employee: The Assembly membership shall consist of any employee (paid person, full- or part-time) whose position has been classified by the College as Administrator, Associate Support Staff, Faculty, or Professional Support Staff who has an employment contract processed through the Human Resources Office.
- G. Operational Matter: matter defined as routine management of the institution, application of procedure, committee functions, specific tasks listed in an employee's job description, classroom instruction, individual student instruction or service, emergencies, urgent or time-sensitive actions, and/or compliance with external mandates including laws, regulations, and accreditation.
- H. Participant Group: a body in the governance structure that includes Board of Trustees, All-College Assembly, President's Advisory Team, Advisory Policy Teams, Constituency Associations, Committees and Task Forces, and Student Government.

Article III Governance Structure

- A. The purpose of ACM's Governance Structure is designed to use effective communication and collaboration by:
 - 1. providing input and feedback to inform administrators who are responsible and accountable for decision-making for the College;
 - 2. advancing the College toward its strategic goal, and
 - 3. affording a pathway for developing, revising, or resolving the College's policies and/or a major institutional matter as defined in Article II, A and C.
- B. ACM participatory governance consists of the participant groups which have distinct roles.
 - 1. The Board of Trustees will

- a. consist of the membership appointed by the Governor of the State of Maryland for a term of 6 years from July 1 of the year the appointment is made and until a successor is appointed and qualifies;
 - b. adopt a mission statement;
 - c. establish goals that are consistent with the roles and mission approved for the institution;
 - d. approve institutional policies;
 - e. select a president for the College;
 - f. establish guidelines for admission standards that are consistent with the role and mission approved for the institution;
 - g. set guidelines for tuition and mandatory fees;
 - h. evaluate and approve short-range and long-range plans; and
 - i. evaluate and approve institutional budget submissions.
2. The President will
 - a. advance All-College Assembly actions to the Board of Trustees;
 - b. advance other appropriate governance actions to the Board of Trustees;
 - c. make recommendations regarding those actions; and
 - d. implement the Board of Trustees decisions.
3. The All-College Assembly will
 - a. consist of all employees as defined in Article II, F;
 - b. vote on items advanced by the President's Advisory Team that have been fully reviewed and evaluated by the appropriate participant group(s);
 - c. communicate information; and
 - d. participate in professional development.
4. The President's Advisory Team will
 - a. consist of the president, vice-presidents, chairs and vice-chairs of the constituency associations, and chairs of the Advisory Policy Teams;
 - b. make action recommendations for matters brought to it by any member of the College community;
 - c. identify and review items under consideration as operational or institutional;
 - d. assign operational or institutional items to an Advisory Policy Team, task force, committee or institutional unit;
 - e. vote on actions/recommendations related to policies and major institutional matters;
 - f. advance items to the All-College Assembly for votes as needed;
 - g. share information about the units/groups they represent;
 - h. review recommended changes to internal bylaws; and
 - i. advise the president on major institutional matters.
5. The Advisory Policy Teams will
 - a. consist of the vice-president of the institutional unit and appropriate personnel as defined in the Advisory Policy Team bylaws;
 - b. accept assignments from the President's Advisory Team. ;

- c. review and provide input to policies related to that institutional unit's functional areas; and
- d. advance recommendations to the President's Advisory Team for further action.

6. Constituency Associations will
 - a. consist of employees who join the association according to their Human Resources classification as follows:
 - 1) Associate Support Staff
 - 2) Faculty
 - 3) Professional and Administrative Support Staff

 8. procedure for amending the bylaws, and
 9. procedure defining the submission of an annual report to the Committee on Committees.
- B. Bylaws, or recommendations for changes, must be submitted to the President's Advisory Team for review and approval to advance to the All-College Assembly.

Article V Amendments

This constitution may be amended in the following manner:

- A. A member may submit a proposed amendment to the President's Advisory Team for review.
- B. A two-thirds vote of the PAT is required to advance it to the All-College Assembly.
- C. The PAT will define the voting method.
- D. Proposed amendments being advanced to the All-College Assembly will be distributed to all employees at least five business days prior to the scheduled All-College Assembly meeting where deliberation can occur.
- E. A ballot vote is defined in the current Roberts Rules of Order.
- F. The minimum number of votes cast to endorse an amendment must equal or exceed a quorum. For the amendment to be endorsed, two-thirds of the votes cast must be affirmative.
- G. The ballot vote will then be processed.
- H. Endorsed amendments will be forwarded to the President for recommendation to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

APPROVALS:

Summary of Spring 2015 Proposed Constitution Concerns:

Communication Concerns

How will the internal stakeholders receive information?

According to the proposed All-College Assembly Constitution's Preamble, B.6

Guided by the College's mission and vision, ACM's All-College Assembly constitution has a shared governance framework designed to enhance communication across the institution.

Communicate its action to the originating stakeholder if the submitter did not participate in the President's Advisory Team meeting when the submission is considered (All-College Assembly Constitution, Article V.B.3).

Communication to internal stakeholders shall be through:

- 1. Invitations to submitters to participate in the President's Advisory Team when submissions will be considered.*
- 2. Pre-published agenda and documents for President's Advisory Team meetings by the President;*
- 3. Post-published summary of the President's Advisory Team meetings by the President;*
- 4. Attendance at President's Advisory Team meetings by any employee or student;*
- 5. Meeting minutes of the President's Advisory Team via electronic format; ;*
- 6. Updates to originating stakeholder by the President;*
- 7. Governance and operational assistance committees meeting minutes;*
- 8. Disseminated information about activities of college-wide concern to the greatest extent reasonable and possible by designated College officials and governance groups;*
- 9. Agendas and meeting minutes for the All-College Assembly Agenda; and*
- 10. Agendas and meeting minutes for the Board of Trustees (All-College Assembly Constitution, Article V.G.1-10)*

Curriculum and Academic Standards Committee

How were the bylaws developed for the Curriculum and Academic Standards Committees?

Each committee developed their own bylaws for the proposed All-College Assembly Constitution.

Student Participation in the Governance Process

Are students included in the Governance process?

According to the proposed All-College Assembly Constitution's Preamble, C:

All employees and credit students are encouraged to participate in governance. The PAT has a student member as well as many other committees.

Agenda Items

How can an internal stakeholder get an item on the All College Assembly agenda?

According to the proposed All-College Assembly Constitution, Article V, and I.3...

Any employee or student may submit a proposal directly to the All-College Assembly to develop, revise, or resolve discretionary policies and procedures and major institutional matters.

- a. The employee or student shall be responsible for exercising due diligence by
 - i) gathering the necessary information which may include assessment data,*
 - ii) verifying that appropriate College official(s) were contacted for input,*
 - iii) collecting signatures on a petition, and/or*
 - iv) demonstrating if the submission aligns with the College's Strategic Plan or other planning documents.
- b. The employee or student shall request placement on the agenda no less than 7 business days prior to the All-College meeting.*

Amendments

Why is there a 2/3 quorum needed for voting on amendments for the constitution?

According to the proposed All-College Assembly Constitution, Article VIII,

This constitution may be amended in the following manner:

- A. A member may submit a proposed amendment to the President's Advisory Team for review.
- B. Pursuant to Roberts Rules of Order, a two-thirds vote of the PAT is required to advance an amendment to this constitution to the All-College Assembly.
- B. The PAT will define the voting method considering democratic integrity, effective communication, and institutional efficiency.
- C. Proposed amendments being advanced to the All-College Assembly will be distributed to all employees at least five business days prior to the scheduled All-College Assembly meeting where deliberation can occur.
- D. A ballot vote and related procedures are defined in the current Roberts Rules of Order.
- E. The minimum number of votes cast must equal or exceed a quorum. For the amendment to pass, two-thirds of the votes cast must be affirmative.
- F. Endorsed amendments will be forwarded to the President for recommendation to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

Membership of the All-College Assembly

Who will be able to vote on an action item at the All-College Assembly?

According to the proposed All-College Assembly Constitution, Article II.A

The All-College Assembly membership shall consist of any employee (paid person, full- or part-time) whose position has been classified by the College as Administrator, Associate Support Staff, Faculty, or Professional Support Staff who has an employment contract processed through the Human Resources Office.

Institutional Policy vs. Operational Policy

What is the difference between institutional policy and operational policies?

According to the proposed All-College Assembly Constitution, Article VII.C, H, I and J

C. Discretionary Matter: Distinguished from mandatory matters and the heart of participatory governance. Any student or employee may develop, revise, or resolve an optional matter and submit to the appropriate participatory group or to the All-College Assembly after thorough vetting by the appropriate College personnel – including governance groups when possible. (Contrast with “Mandatory Matter”.)

Institutional Policy vs. Operational Policy (con't)

What is the difference between institutional policy and operational policies?

H. Mandatory Matter: any policy or procedure that is required by law, regulatory agency, or accrediting body. Designated Human Resources policies as defined below are deemed mandatory matters for purposes of this constitution. Board of Trustees directives may be deemed mandatory for purposes of this constitution. The College Official(s) charged with creating mandatory policy or procedure shall be responsible for ensuring it complies with law and can be implemented given existing institutional policy, procedures, and operations. (Contrast with “Discretionary Matter”.)

I. Major Institutional Matter: issue with college-wide impact or of great importance to meeting the College's mission, vision, guiding principles or Strategic Plan. They are commonly (but not exclusively) new matters which are neither urgent nor time-sensitive requiring immediate administrative action.

President's Advisory Team

What is the membership of the President's Advisory Team?

According to the proposed President's Advisory Team Bylaws, Article II.A. and Article V.C.

A. The PAT shall consist of the following members:

- President (Chair)
- Senior Vice President of Instructional and Student Affairs
- Vice President of Advancement and Community Relations
- Vice President of Finance and Administrative Services
- Associate Dean of Institutional Effectiveness, Research, and Planning
- Director of Human Resources
- Chair, Faculty Senate
- Vice-Chair, Faculty Senate
- Faculty Member (at large)
- Chair, Professional and Administrative Support Staff Committee
- Vice-Chair, Professional & Administrative Support Staff Committee
- Professional Staff (at large)
- Chair, Associate Support Staff Committee
- Vice-Chair, Associate Support Staff Committee
- Associate Staff (at large)
- Member of SGA (Student Government Association)

C. Any student or employee may attend PAT meetings.

Governance Process

How does an idea or action occur at the College?

Shared Governance Flowchart

Discretionary Institutional Idea or Action

*Communication to Stakeholders

Where did the idea of shared governance at ACM originate?

Like most community colleges, ACM has been fortunate to enjoy a long tradition of democracy. When the college opened in 1961, it operated under the auspices of the Allegany County Board of Education. Gaining autonomy to operate under its own Board of Trustees, the college first defined its constitutional purpose in 1971 as: “to provide for the local governance of Allegany Community College within the framework of the educational objectives established by the Board of Trustees of the College and under its continuing guidance.”

The current revisions to the college’s constitution represent only the third time the original document has been amended in any significant way since the institution was founded 55 years ago. Not surprisingly, each revision has correlated with a period of significant transformation for the institution itself.

In the 1960s, the governance shifted from the local Board of Education to an autonomous nine-member Board of Trustees appointed by the Maryland governor, necessitating the writing of the college’s first constitution which was ratified in 1971.

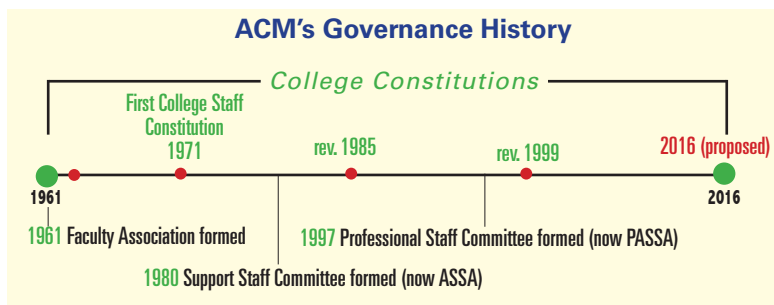

In the 1970s, the college moved from its original one-building facility on Frederick Street to a six-building campus on Willowbrook Road. By the end of that decade, the Technologies and Continuing Education buildings were added, permitting expansion from a small, liberal arts school focusing on transfer programs to one that also offered career programs.

In the 1980s and 90s the scope of the institution grew into Pennsylvania and other regions, as more comprehensive programs and services were added to serve ever-growing numbers of students. With this growth, more support staff at both the associate and professional and administrative ranks were hired. The president began including elected representatives at all classifications in council meetings as a means of promoting collaboration and unity.

In the first decade of the new Millennium, the college hit record enrollments of students, and senior employees in both the administrative and academic sectors began retiring. In addition, Middle States shifted its focus to assessment, stressing the need for less top-down leadership and even greater collaboration among units in an effort to promote maximum effectiveness and efficiency in institutions of higher learning.

American community colleges are much like the nation that invented them. They offer an open door to opportunity to all who would come, are innovative and agile in meeting economic and workplace needs, and provide value and service to individuals and communities.

George R. Boggs, “Democracy’s Colleges: The Evolution of the Community College in America,” Prepared for White House Summit on Community Colleges, American Association of Community Colleges, August 2010

Building on decades of traditions that were integral and democratic for their times, ACM’s proposed 2016 constitution values voices at all levels while honoring the past as well as the institution’s ever-pressing strategic priorities.

At present, only two of the 19 established standing committees (curriculum and academic standards) are expected to bring their business before the Professional College Staff for approval. In other instances, certain practices, such as approval of graduates each fall and spring, have remained long-standing customs even when not prescribed in committee bylaws.

In a 2012 ACM faculty caucus, ideas for building upon the institution’s traditions of democracy were advanced as a stated goal. A Shared Governance pilot was implemented in the 2012-2013 academic year. In the summer of 2013, a workgroup was appointed to align governance documents with the piloted model. During discussions, ideas began to emerge for eliminating the Professional College Staff in favor of the more inclusive All-College Assembly.

This model proposes aligning the bylaws of the curriculum and academic standards committees with those of other established standing committees, whereby the “output” or the decisions of those groups would be made at the committee level with representation from all classifications of employees. A vetting process is central to newly proposed committee bylaws so that all stakeholders can be kept apprised of pending proposals and of final decisions.

The proposed college constitution attempts to offer a framework whereby stakeholders can participate in policy development and major institutional decisions. Deliberate effort was undertaken by the workgroup to develop language that would endure over time while also allowing for flexibility as the institution evolves.

Benefits of Shared Governance at ACM

Number One Benefit: Inclusiveness.

The proposed 2016 ACM All-College Assembly Constitution allows all-college meetings to be just that: ALL-COLLEGE. The document replaces the Professional College Staff with an All-College Assembly where no classification of employees is excluded from such meetings. In the college's early years, academic matters were decided by the faculty and a select group of administrators and professional staff, originally known as the "College Staff" (1971 constitution) and later expanded to include all full-time administrators, faculty and professional support staff known as the "Professional College Staff" (1999 constitution). The proposed 2016 version eliminates barriers and invites all administrators, faculty, staff, and students to help determine the direction of the college.

What are some additional benefits of shared governance?

- Recognizes and upholds the important work that committees bring to academia and honors service to the institution as a worthy pursuit.
- Facilitates the dissemination of information and identifies clear channels of communication where the free exchange of ideas is valued without fear of reprisal.
- Entrusts curricular matters and academic standards to the committee level, thereby aligning the expectations of these committees with those of others at a similar level.
- Develops leaders who are cognizant of the strategic priorities and management issues faced by the college.
- Strives to ensure that the people affected by policies and procedures are involved in their development.
- Promotes accountability of committees by requiring majority approval of bylaws as the framework within which they operate on behalf of the greater college community.
- Honors the strong tradition of democracy inherent to community colleges by affording employees the opportunity to vote on major institutional matters according to individual conscience, irrespective of reporting structure or operational hierarchy.
- Requires systematic and regular reporting of progress to stakeholders and regularly assesses its relevance and value.
- Affords more opportunity for enhanced professional development when the All-College Assembly convenes.
- Promotes values of integrity and respect, recognizing that student experiences are enhanced in a collegial environment of trust, collaboration, and civility.

What types of matters will the All-College Assembly consider?

The All-College Assembly will vote to approve bylaws for committees listed under the categories of "direct governance" or "operational assistance." Once approved, they will represent the agreed-upon manner in which these groups will conduct business on behalf of the entire college.

The new constitution leaves open the possibility that any recommendation, policy, or procedure with wide impact can be brought before the Assembly for a vote, particularly in cases where the advantages of exercising the democratic process are likely to generate maximum buy-in.

Not all matters of shared governance need to be voted upon by the All-College Assembly. The new model offers all employees and students opportunities to provide input and to get involved by attending open PAT meetings and submitting ideas and concerns in writing, reading minutes and agendas, serving on constituent groups, and voting on those recommendations for policy changes and bylaws brought before the all-college assembly.

Matters not considered appropriate for shared governance include issues related to compensation and benefits as well as specific personnel matters and grievances. In addition, issues and policies related to contractual agreements, legal requirements, federal and state mandates, and accreditation standards are administered by the appropriate college personnel with oversight by the Board of Trustees and are not considered to be within the scope of shared governance.

"Shared governance is not a simple matter of committee consensus, or the faculty's engaging administrators to take on the dirty work, or any number of other common misconceptions. Shared governance is much more complex; it is a delicate balance between faculty and staff participation in planning and decision-making processes, on the one hand, and administrative accountability on the other."

Gary A. Olson, "Exactly What is Shared Governance?"
The Chronicle of Higher Education, July 23, 2009
