POLICY

I. SCOPE OF THE POLICY

Through its administrative offices and committees, the College is expected to provide timely, accurate information as well as a variety of support services to meet the academic/transfer advising, career guidance and counseling needs of students. Informational sources include the Allegany College Catalog, course schedules, academic regulations, Student Handbook, "Students with Special Needs" brochure, and other publications. Support services include those offered through the Instructional Assistance Center, Admissions Office, Registration Office, Career Path, Student Activities, Financial Aid, courses offered through the Center for Continuing Education, crisis counseling, Library, and the Child Care Center.

II. POLICY STATEMENT

Advising is a process that assists students in clarifying their choices and goals and in developing educational plans for realizing these goals. It is a continuing process in which advisers help students make decisions. An important instrument in fulfilling the mission of Allegany College, advising ensures that students are aware of the comprehensive educational opportunities offered, that they acquire a sound foundation in the liberal arts and sciences, and that they acquire the knowledge and skills needed for their career choices. Recognizing that education is not restricted to traditional classroom learning, Allegany College offers comprehensive individual advising designed to heighten the quality and effectiveness of all educational experiences of every student.

Advising at Allegany College embraces three major components -- academic/transfer advising, career guidance, and student services through a network of different but complementary services. These services are made available through shared responsibility of various segments of the college: students, faculty, department and administrative offices, and committees. Thus, the entire advising process involves a set of constructive and cooperative relationships between students and qualified members of the academic community
