A. SELF-MONITORING ATTENDANCE FORM

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVE: Demonstrate personal responsibility and initiative for carrying out work assignments

Students are responsible for keeping careful and exact records of their attendance, late arrivals, and absences each semester using the Attendance Monitoring Form. There is a form submitted for each Human Service Class; it is turned in to the instructor at mid-term and finals:

- Annette’s Form: Green
- Cherie’s Form: Red (attached)

The student’s signature on the form is verification of their attendance just as a time sheet would be in the workforce. If the documentation on the form is incorrect, this will be considered as an ethical violation and the student will need to meet with the instructor.

The rationale for this form is to prepare the student for the workforce where documentation is taken very seriously and inaccuracies can be grounds for dismissal.
SELF-MONITORING ATTENDANCE RECORD

Use this form for both mid-term and final submission.

However, prior to reaching this point, it is suggested that you contact your instructor to request a meeting where you can discuss the problems you are having so that you might avoid the consequences of excessive absences or lateness.

2) This form will be turned in to the instructor at mid-terms and finals of every course and will be placed in your Human Service file.

  2. Update your field contract if these goals are not included. Note on your paper if this was done.
  3. List what your supervisor can do to help you meet your goals. Describe how you learn best.
  4. Using the ideas presented in Corey (pp. 50-56 but check your text edition as pages vary!), list what you specifically plan to do to actively participate with your Supervisor in the learning process this semester.
- Schedule a time to meet with your supervisor to discuss the above. Prior to the meeting, give him/her a copy of your paper.

ASSIGNMENT #2 5 POINTS

After your conference with your Supervisor, write about the following:

1) How did you feel the conference went? Did it help to clarify your expectations? Your supervisor's?
2) What are your Supervisor's expectations? How did he/she respond to what you shared about your professionalism goals?
3) What did you do well in the conference? Did you have any regrets? What could you have done differently? Note the date you had the conference on this paper.

D. BEHAVIOR MANAGEMENT APPLICATION GUIDELINES
Human Service 190
Required Competency
100 Points

ASSIGNMENT SUMMARY:

Each student, after consultation with his/her supervisor, will identify a target behavior for a client/pupil with whom he/she is involved. Using behavior modification principles, an intervention strategy will be designed and implemented. The assignment is worth 100 points.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOME:

1. Demonstrate basic knowledge and skills in the application of behavior management principles and intervention strategies to client needs and goals.
2. Utilize information literacy skills to identify credible and current sources of information for a bibliography related to a client issue.

BENCHMARK: 80/10

I. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

A. Read these guidelines carefully!

B. Discuss the assignment with your practicum supervisor to obtain his/her approval.

C. If your supervisor does not feel the site can accommodate the assignment, please inform your Field Liaison, and if approved, an alternative can be developed.

D. You are to follow the five basic steps outlined in your text and in the class lecture notes on PowerPoint. Complete the Checklist at the end of this assignment to insure you have addressed all aspects of the assignment correctly.

1. Select a target behavior.
2. Collect and record baseline data.
3. Identify reinforcers.
4. Implement the intervention and collect and record intervention data.
5. Evaluate the effect.

E. AS YOU WORK ON THE ASSIGNMENT, VERY CAREFULLY REREAD THE CHAPTERS, HANDOUTS, POWERPOINTS AND LECTURE NOTES RELATING TO WHAT YOU ARE DOING.

F. The more responsibility you take for the application, the more you will learn. However, because of treatment methods, procedures, and standards at your site, you may not be able to take total responsibility; you will instead be an active participant with others. Discuss your roles and responsibilities with your supervisor and specify what this is in the final report.

G. Be sure to choose a target behavior that is relatively simple to observe and measure; it should be appropriate for a beginning level student.
H. Involve your client in the program's design--in most cases they should be informed that you will be working to change behavior. Depending on your client and your site, they should participate as much as possible in defining reinforcers, receiving feedback on progress, and working toward the behavioral goals. Discuss this aspect of the project with your supervisor!

I. What is important with this assignment is that you have the opportunity for "hands-on" experience with behavior management, not that you see enormous changes with your client.

J. CONFIDENTIALITY
Fictitious names or initials must be used and the usual attention to confidentiality observed. Your supervisor must initial the paper before it is turned it and graded. This signifies your report has met the agencies confidentiality standards.

K. Samples of Behavior Management Application assignments reports will be posted on Brightspace.

II. TIMELINE

Develop a series of "target dates" with your supervisor to insure that you can complete the assignment in the time available. (The behavior modification efforts, however, may be continued by other staff after you end your placement.)

To be successful, you should begin collecting baseline data for your behavior management program no later than the end of February and then initiate the implementation phase before Spring Break. The implementation phase should be at least 5 weeks.

A SUGGESTED timetable is:

III. REPORT FORMAT

The body of the final typewritten report (I.-VII.) is to be no more than 3-5 pages plus an appendix. Samples are available on Blackboard. The paper must follow the following format:

A. Cover sheet (attached).
B. Section I: Introduction
   A brief summary of information about your site, your client, and the role you and others played in this specific application. This "sets the stage" for the report and provides some background information for the reader.

C. Section II: Target Behavior
   - In one sentence, state the target behavior for your client. Be sure that it is stated in such a way as to be observable and measurable (refer to handout on target behaviors and state if the behavior is to be increased or decreased or maintained).
   - Explain why the behavior should be changed and how you know this.

D. Section III: Baseline Data
   - Briefly describe the methods you used to collect and record the baseline data (refer to your text or utilize methods recommended by your site).
   - Explain why these methods were used
   - Specifically summarize the results of the baseline data collected as a specific number or average and include the actual charts, logs, etc., should be placed in the appendix.)
   - Explain what the baseline data told you about how the behavior benefits the client or what seems to precipitate the behavior

E. Section IV: Reinforcers (Rewards)
   - Describe the reinforcers (tangible & intangible) used in the project
   - Explain how these reinforcers were identified and include in the appendix a copy of any survey instruments, questionnaires, etc., you used.

F. Section V: Implementation of Methods and Implementation Data
   - List and describe specifically which of the five methods taught in class were used to change (increase, decrease, maintain) the behavior (refer to PowerPoints). These methods were: positive reinforcement, modeling, shaping, token economy, and contingency contracting.
   - Describe the steps involved in the process, and explain why these methods were employed.
   - Summarize the specific intervention data collected in terms of numbers or averages; include any reports, logs, charts, etc., in the appendix. (NOTE: THE IMPLEMENTATION PERIOD WILL VARY FROM SITE TO SITE; FOR MOST IT SHOULD BE AT LEAST FIVE WEEKS OR MORE.)

G. Section VI: Evaluation
   - Restate your target behavior.
   - Compare the specific number or average from your baseline data with the specific number or average from your intervention data.
   - Describe the amount and direction of change in behavior (increase, decrease, or same).
   - Explain what factors contributed to the success of the intervention. Include such things as your relationship with the person, the effectiveness of the reinforcers, the environment, etc.
   - Indicate what you would do differently if you would continue to work with this person
   - State your recommendations for the staff who will continue to work with the client.

Section VII: Appendix
   - Include appropriate reports, charts, logs, etc. (Be sure to refer to them by number or letter in the body of your report).
   - Attach the Behavior Management Project Checklist with all required signatures.
IV. GRADING

The report is worth 100 points and grades will be based on:

A. Compliance with format guidelines 10 pts
B. Correct grammar, punctuation, spelling and neatness. 15 pts.
C. Understanding and application of behavior modification techniques and theories. 75 pts

The success of the intervention will NOT be considered in the grading process!!!!
E. Political/Social Action Assignment

Rationale for Assignment

According to the Ethical Standards for Human Service (found in your Program Handbook), human service professionals have the following responsibilities to the community and society:

STANDARD 10 Human service professionals provide services without discrimination or preference in regards to age, ethnicity, culture, race, ability, gender, language preference, religion, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, nationality, or other historically oppressed groups.

STANDARD 11 Human service professionals are knowledgeable about their cultures and communities within which they practice. They are aware of multiculturalism in society and its impact on the community as well as individuals within the community. They respect the cultures and beliefs of individuals and groups.

STANDARD 12 Human service professionals are aware of local, state, and federal laws. They advocate for change in regulations and statutes when such legislation conflicts with ethical guidelines and/or client rights. Where laws are harmful to individuals, groups, or communities, human service professionals consider the conflict between the values of obeying the law and the values of serving people and may decide to initiate social action.

STANDARD 13 Human service professionals stay informed about current social issues as they affect clients and communities. If appropriate to the helping relationship, they share this information with clients, groups and communities as part of their work.

STANDARD 14 Human service professionals are aware of social and political issues that differentially affect clients from diverse backgrounds.

STANDARD 15 Human service professionals provide a mechanism for identifying client needs and assets, calling attention to these needs and assets, and assisting in planning and mobilizing to advocate for those needs at the individual, community, and societal level when appropriate to the goals of the relationship.

STANDARD 16 Human service professionals advocate for social justice and seek to eliminate oppression. They raise awareness of underserved population in their communities and with the legislative system.

STANDARD 17 Human service professionals accurately represent their qualifications to the public. This includes, but is not limited to, their abilities, training, education, credentials, academic endeavors, and areas of expertise. They avoid the appearance of misrepresentation or impropriety and take immediate steps to correct it if it occurs.

STANDARD 18 Human service professionals describe the effectiveness of treatment programs, interventions and treatments, and/or techniques accurately, supported by data whenever possible.
Student Learning Outcome: Demonstrate political and social action skills of lobbying, advocacy, and public narrative

SECTION ONE  DARK BEFORE THE DAWN

1. "The Optimism of Uncertainty" by Howard Zinn

   - Loeb writes, "History also shows that even seemingly miraculous advances are in fact the result of many people taking small steps together over a long period of time." Is this the view of history you've been taught? How many of the examples Zinn gave of unexpected turnings did you know about? What about accurate depictions of citizens making change? Think again of the Rosa Parks story. What is the value of emphasizing courageous and positive moments when ordinary citizens helped change the world?

   - If you think of Zinn as a fiery radical, were you surprised by his inviting the string quartet to play in his classroom? What does this say about the sources that sustain us?

2. "The Dark Years" by Nelson Mandela

   - Why would Mandela and his ANC colleagues go to such lengths to get news of the outside, like passing it from cell to cell on scraps of toilet paper? How does a sense of political isolation foster despair, while being connected with an engaged community encourages hope?

   - Most of us will not face the hardships of imprisonment like Nelson Mandela, but in what other ways can we be imprisoned? What qualities does Mandela suggest help human beings surmount even the greatest of challenges?

SECTION TWO: EVERYDAY GRACE

3. "The Peace of Wild Things" by Wendell Berry

   - How does the natural world liberate Berry from despair? Where do you go to renew your spirit? Describe that place or write a poem about it. Why is it important for people to have a place of renewal?

4. "Mountain Music" by Scott Russell Sanders

   - Do you relate more to the father's or the son's perspective in the essay? Explain.

   - At the conclusion of the essay, the father says he must "look harder for antidotes, for medicines, for sources of hope." What does he mean? How has he been challenged and changed by Jesse’s words? In your life and surroundings, identify possible "antidotes" and "medicines" that give you a sense of hope.”

5. "Fragile and Hidden" by Henri Nouwen

   - How did Nouwen learn about hope? Have you ever experienced hope at a time or place when you least expected it? Explain.
6. "There Is a Season" by Parker Palmer

- Discuss the metaphor for life as one of seasons compared to one of manufacturing. Which do you prefer? To what extent do you think the metaphors we choose for life influence our perceptions? Our actions?

- Through much of the essay, Palmer uses the metaphor of life as "a cycle of seasons." Summarize the gifts each season brings to his life. Can you extend the metaphor—that is, what other images or comparisons can you add for each season?

- What lessons does Palmer teach about keeping on for the long haul at working for change? What other lessons can we learn from the natural world?

SECTION THREE: TO BE PROVIDED AT A LATER DATE
F. NONVIOLENT COMMUNICATION SKILLS
15 points
Submit through Brightspace

Student Learning Outcomes:
- Develop teamwork skills with other professionals
- Develop behaviors that reflect a positive regard for the worth and dignity of clients and a respect for diversity

1. Review the PowerPoint on Blackboard and your Soc. 104 notes on the textbook, We Can Work It Out.

2. Based on the required text, submit a 1-2 page typed paper with an example from work or field placement of how you applied nonviolent communication skills to an interaction with a colleague or supervisor. The paper will include:
   - A summary of the situation and issues
   - The unmet needs identified
   - The specific NVC skills used (reference page numbers in text) or ones you should have used
   - What worked and what did not
   - What specific steps you need to take in the future to improve your skills in nonviolent communication

3. Observe confidentiality by using only initials or a false name.
