IT, Security, and Physical Plant Updates

Finance:
- ACM is moving forward with the year-end closing process and getting ready for the FY18 audits of the College, Foundation, and Housing. While final college financial results for FY18 are still months away, preliminary results before all final purchases/payments clear and before the health insurance accounts are reconciled for the year’s activity indicate that we should have a positive net result.

Facilities/Physical Plant:
- Bids are due for the construction of the Welcome Center later this month. The RFP includes provisions for add alternates that can be included or excluded from the project based on whether or not the bids are over budget.
- Construction/renovation work continues on the Technology building. There have been a number of challenges along the road due to differences between the as-built drawings and actual physical features of the building. Project delays will most likely delay the completion of the lobby and pod C until September or early October. Faculty and staff are expected to move back in to pod A in early August and be able to hold classes as usual. Pod C classes will be relocated elsewhere on campus until work is complete.
- Renovation of the tennis courts is still in process, with much of the work complete.
- Softball field construction bids came in over budget and the college is currently working with applicable staff and the architects to identify key components, as well as components that can be delayed until additional funding is available. Requesting bids during prime summer contracting months may have contributed to the high costs. Once revisions to the project scope occur, the top bidders will be asked to come back with their best and final prices.

- Print shop renovations are in process and summer apartment maintenance/repair including exterior step repair, power washing, and exterior painting is in process or being scheduled.

- College staff are still investigating potential short and long term solutions for housing WCI staff once the Tech building project II renovation starts (after July 2019).

- The College received bids for the HVAC units in the Gateway Center. Once the bid is approved, the contract will be signed and work will be done early fall.

Information Technology:

- Training for faculty and staff has begun for the new Office 365 platform that includes email, as well as other tools and programs. The new cloud system will increase our storage, improve collaboration and scheduling/calendar ability, and move some of the data security vulnerability from the College to Microsoft.

- Further employee data security awareness training including information on how to electronically or physically protect all personally identifiable information (PHI) will begin shortly.

Security:

- Security staff scheduled several training sessions related to fire or other emergencies for the Resident Assistants. Security staff will perform fire watch duties from the time the Tech Building Pod A is occupied through the time when the Tech Building lobby is completed and the fire system is reactivated for the building.

- Installation of the barricade lockdown devices is progressing.

- Installation of additional security cameras continues at housing, which should help deter theft and other negative student behaviors outside the apartments.

- Mr. Cuthbertson plans to attend ALICE training in Garrett County and get certification to train others in these emergency response system/techniques.

- The Trustees received the Special Police draft policies and procedures at the last Board meeting and were asked to let Ms. Kilduff know of any comments or suggestions to improve the policies and procedures.
- A group of Security, IT, and PR staff is creating an emergency communication plan for the college. The group is using example plans from other Maryland community colleges to create a formal plan that works for ACM. This plan will specify when, where, and who will communicate to both the internal college community and the external community as well as the news outlets in the event of an emergency. Once the group completes the plan, the President’s Advisory Team and the college community will review comment, and then the Board will review and comment.

Gateway HVAC Replacement/Upgrades Bid Recommendation
On a motion from Mr. Pyles and the second from Ms. Buckel, the Trustees approved the $185,900 bid from RH Lapp & Sons to replace/upgrade the HVAC on the second and third floors of the Gateway Center.
